

COMMUNICATION SYSTEMS

We partner with Panasonic and Doorfon (Totalplex) to deliver phone, intercom, and door entry systems enabling communication throughout your home, office, or retail establishment.

Doorfon entry systems offer an inexpensive doorbell/intercom solution. With the touch of a button at the front or gate entry, any standard telephone rings throughout the home. You simply answer the telephone and communicate to the other person. Doorfon can also be retrofitted to utilize any existing doorbell wiring. Simply replace the doorbell with a Doorfon speaker and communicate through any existing telephone in the home.

Panasonic's hybrid phone systems work with standard telephone lines, so you never need to upgrade your phone service when your needs increase. Some of the hybrid phone system features include:

Off-Premises Call Forwarding

Program the system to forward your calls to your cellular phone or another outside telephone so you don't miss a call.

Voicemail System

Incoming callers hear a message instructing them to dial a single-digit code for the intended party, routing the call to that party's extension automatically.

Night Mode

Automatically prevent selected extensions from ringing at night -- ideal for children's rooms or a home office.

Call Waiting Caller ID

System display phones can show the name and number of an incoming caller, even if you're on another call.

Room-to-Room Intercom

Lets you contact other extensions via an intercom, so you can relay messages throughout your home or office.
